

DAILY APPEAL.

MEMPHIS.

Largest Circulation in the City.

Official Journal of the City.

Reading Matter on Every Page.

HARMONY, CO-OPERATION, AND CORRESPONDENCE.

A correspondence has met the light between two very distinguished persons, two men of great talents, Mr. H. S. Foote, of this State, and Hon. Asa Clark Dixie, of Kentucky. Gov. Foote's political career is so well known in this attitude as to excuse any special recapitulation of it. Suffice it to say that he has generally deserved well of his country, and has always been a true and upright man. His market or caption being his election to the Senate of the United States, and to the Governorship of Mississippi, for one term each, under very peculiar circumstances. When it is not doubted that his white career has been one of ambition and success, it is also known that his life—which has now reached to a respectable list of years—has not been more fruitful of political honor. This we can only account for on the ground of his many eccentricities in the political field, and the various attitudes in which he has been found.

So much for Gov. Foote. But Mr. Dixie occupies a position that, if possible, even more exceptional, when regarded in the character of party leader, than is given to the Democrats. He was at one time the life of that great man, the devoted follower of Mr. Clay, who was the embodiment of Whig principles. It is true he was the author of the amendment to the Kansas bill, which repealed the Missouri Compromise; but by that act, he exhausted his full strength, and identified himself with his party, and he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Gov. Dixie and Mr. Dixie are great, if they suppose themselves capable of breaking down the Democratic party by publishing their correspondence in the newspapers. We have heard of greater men than either of them passing their entire lives in the exercise of their talents, and yet we do not know anything, like success, to crown it. The "causes" or conventional somnambuting system has survived the combined efforts of the Clays and Websters of our greatest historic period since the days of Washington.

But what is most remarkable about this correspondence, is the deliberate plan and design it exhibits toward the dismemberment of Illinois, from the Democratic party, and under the pretense of his name, to raise up a new party against the Administration, and against Democratic principles. And all this takes place after Judge DOUGLASS has emphatically declared in his press, and in his resolutions, that he is in no way connected with the movement, or policy between him and the Adminstration, and distinctly pledged himself to the support of the nominees of the next National "Nominating Convention," which will assemble at Charlotte.

Now the truth of the matter, as far as we can learn, is, that he, the exhausted and feeble old man, identified himself with his party, he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Gov. Dixie and Mr. Dixie are great, if they suppose themselves capable of breaking down the Democratic party by publishing their correspondence in the newspapers. We have heard of greater men than either of them passing their entire lives in the exercise of their talents, and yet we do not know anything, like success, to crown it. The "causes" or conventional somnambuting system has survived the combined efforts of the Clays and Websters of our greatest historic period since the days of Washington.

But what is most remarkable about this correspondence, is the deliberate plan and design it exhibits toward the dismemberment of Illinois, from the Democratic party, and under the pretense of his name, to raise up a new party against the Administration, and against Democratic principles. And all this takes place after Judge DOUGLASS has emphatically declared in his press, and in his resolutions, that he is in no way connected with the movement, or policy between him and the Adminstration, and distinctly pledged himself to the support of the nominees of the next National "Nominating Convention," which will assemble at Charlotte.

Now the truth of the matter, as far as we can learn, is, that he, the exhausted and feeble old man, identified himself with his party, he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Gov. Dixie and Mr. Dixie are great, if they suppose themselves capable of breaking down the Democratic party by publishing their correspondence in the newspapers. We have heard of greater men than either of them passing their entire lives in the exercise of their talents, and yet we do not know anything, like success, to crown it. The "causes" or conventional somnambuting system has survived the combined efforts of the Clays and Websters of our greatest historic period since the days of Washington.

But what is most remarkable about this correspondence, is the deliberate plan and design it exhibits toward the dismemberment of Illinois, from the Democratic party, and under the pretense of his name, to raise up a new party against the Administration, and against Democratic principles. And all this takes place after Judge DOUGLASS has emphatically declared in his press, and in his resolutions, that he is in no way connected with the movement, or policy between him and the Adminstration, and distinctly pledged himself to the support of the nominees of the next National "Nominating Convention," which will assemble at Charlotte.

Now the truth of the matter, as far as we can learn, is, that he, the exhausted and feeble old man, identified himself with his party, he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Gov. Dixie and Mr. Dixie are great, if they suppose themselves capable of breaking down the Democratic party by publishing their correspondence in the newspapers. We have heard of greater men than either of them passing their entire lives in the exercise of their talents, and yet we do not know anything, like success, to crown it. The "causes" or conventional somnambuting system has survived the combined efforts of the Clays and Websters of our greatest historic period since the days of Washington.

But what is most remarkable about this correspondence, is the deliberate plan and design it exhibits toward the dismemberment of Illinois, from the Democratic party, and under the pretense of his name, to raise up a new party against the Administration, and against Democratic principles. And all this takes place after Judge DOUGLASS has emphatically declared in his press, and in his resolutions, that he is in no way connected with the movement, or policy between him and the Adminstration, and distinctly pledged himself to the support of the nominees of the next National "Nominating Convention," which will assemble at Charlotte.

Now the truth of the matter, as far as we can learn, is, that he, the exhausted and feeble old man, identified himself with his party, he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Gov. Dixie and Mr. Dixie are great, if they suppose themselves capable of breaking down the Democratic party by publishing their correspondence in the newspapers. We have heard of greater men than either of them passing their entire lives in the exercise of their talents, and yet we do not know anything, like success, to crown it. The "causes" or conventional somnambuting system has survived the combined efforts of the Clays and Websters of our greatest historic period since the days of Washington.

But what is most remarkable about this correspondence, is the deliberate plan and design it exhibits toward the dismemberment of Illinois, from the Democratic party, and under the pretense of his name, to raise up a new party against the Administration, and against Democratic principles. And all this takes place after Judge DOUGLASS has emphatically declared in his press, and in his resolutions, that he is in no way connected with the movement, or policy between him and the Adminstration, and distinctly pledged himself to the support of the nominees of the next National "Nominating Convention," which will assemble at Charlotte.

Now the truth of the matter, as far as we can learn, is, that he, the exhausted and feeble old man, identified himself with his party, he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Gov. Dixie and Mr. Dixie are great, if they suppose themselves capable of breaking down the Democratic party by publishing their correspondence in the newspapers. We have heard of greater men than either of them passing their entire lives in the exercise of their talents, and yet we do not know anything, like success, to crown it. The "causes" or conventional somnambuting system has survived the combined efforts of the Clays and Websters of our greatest historic period since the days of Washington.

But what is most remarkable about this correspondence, is the deliberate plan and design it exhibits toward the dismemberment of Illinois, from the Democratic party, and under the pretense of his name, to raise up a new party against the Administration, and against Democratic principles. And all this takes place after Judge DOUGLASS has emphatically declared in his press, and in his resolutions, that he is in no way connected with the movement, or policy between him and the Adminstration, and distinctly pledged himself to the support of the nominees of the next National "Nominating Convention," which will assemble at Charlotte.

Now the truth of the matter, as far as we can learn, is, that he, the exhausted and feeble old man, identified himself with his party, he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Gov. Dixie and Mr. Dixie are great, if they suppose themselves capable of breaking down the Democratic party by publishing their correspondence in the newspapers. We have heard of greater men than either of them passing their entire lives in the exercise of their talents, and yet we do not know anything, like success, to crown it. The "causes" or conventional somnambuting system has survived the combined efforts of the Clays and Websters of our greatest historic period since the days of Washington.

But what is most remarkable about this correspondence, is the deliberate plan and design it exhibits toward the dismemberment of Illinois, from the Democratic party, and under the pretense of his name, to raise up a new party against the Administration, and against Democratic principles. And all this takes place after Judge DOUGLASS has emphatically declared in his press, and in his resolutions, that he is in no way connected with the movement, or policy between him and the Adminstration, and distinctly pledged himself to the support of the nominees of the next National "Nominating Convention," which will assemble at Charlotte.

Now the truth of the matter, as far as we can learn, is, that he, the exhausted and feeble old man, identified himself with his party, he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Gov. Dixie and Mr. Dixie are great, if they suppose themselves capable of breaking down the Democratic party by publishing their correspondence in the newspapers. We have heard of greater men than either of them passing their entire lives in the exercise of their talents, and yet we do not know anything, like success, to crown it. The "causes" or conventional somnambuting system has survived the combined efforts of the Clays and Websters of our greatest historic period since the days of Washington.

But what is most remarkable about this correspondence, is the deliberate plan and design it exhibits toward the dismemberment of Illinois, from the Democratic party, and under the pretense of his name, to raise up a new party against the Administration, and against Democratic principles. And all this takes place after Judge DOUGLASS has emphatically declared in his press, and in his resolutions, that he is in no way connected with the movement, or policy between him and the Adminstration, and distinctly pledged himself to the support of the nominees of the next National "Nominating Convention," which will assemble at Charlotte.

Now the truth of the matter, as far as we can learn, is, that he, the exhausted and feeble old man, identified himself with his party, he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Gov. Dixie and Mr. Dixie are great, if they suppose themselves capable of breaking down the Democratic party by publishing their correspondence in the newspapers. We have heard of greater men than either of them passing their entire lives in the exercise of their talents, and yet we do not know anything, like success, to crown it. The "causes" or conventional somnambuting system has survived the combined efforts of the Clays and Websters of our greatest historic period since the days of Washington.

But what is most remarkable about this correspondence, is the deliberate plan and design it exhibits toward the dismemberment of Illinois, from the Democratic party, and under the pretense of his name, to raise up a new party against the Administration, and against Democratic principles. And all this takes place after Judge DOUGLASS has emphatically declared in his press, and in his resolutions, that he is in no way connected with the movement, or policy between him and the Adminstration, and distinctly pledged himself to the support of the nominees of the next National "Nominating Convention," which will assemble at Charlotte.

Now the truth of the matter, as far as we can learn, is, that he, the exhausted and feeble old man, identified himself with his party, he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Gov. Dixie and Mr. Dixie are great, if they suppose themselves capable of breaking down the Democratic party by publishing their correspondence in the newspapers. We have heard of greater men than either of them passing their entire lives in the exercise of their talents, and yet we do not know anything, like success, to crown it. The "causes" or conventional somnambuting system has survived the combined efforts of the Clays and Websters of our greatest historic period since the days of Washington.

But what is most remarkable about this correspondence, is the deliberate plan and design it exhibits toward the dismemberment of Illinois, from the Democratic party, and under the pretense of his name, to raise up a new party against the Administration, and against Democratic principles. And all this takes place after Judge DOUGLASS has emphatically declared in his press, and in his resolutions, that he is in no way connected with the movement, or policy between him and the Adminstration, and distinctly pledged himself to the support of the nominees of the next National "Nominating Convention," which will assemble at Charlotte.

Now the truth of the matter, as far as we can learn, is, that he, the exhausted and feeble old man, identified himself with his party, he has ever since been a political wanderer, oscillating from one party to another, until at length he has recently taken up in the character of Don Quixote, valiantly assailing imaginary enemies, and endeavoring to make himself the sole champion of political right and virtue, if we except the author of the Constitution.

Bills, Bonds, &c. Burgess and Lincoln.

MONEY AND TRADE.

The Comet.

NIGHT SALES.

AMUSEMENTS.

DRY GOODS.

SILVER DOWNS.

BALTON, KIRK & WILLIAMS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

BOOKSELLERS.

STATIONERS,

No. 259 Main street, Memphis.

LAW, MEDICAL, THEOLOGICAL, SCIENTIFIC, AND MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.

Bibles and Prayer Books,

In every variety of binding and size, well selected, regular, and inexpensive.

SCHOOL BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!

THESE BOOKS ARE WELL ARRANGED AND CONVENIENT FOR USE.

BLANK BOOKS!